GAMBLER GARRY WELCH CONVICTED AND FINED

San Mateo county scored against the north end gamblers Tuesday when Garrett Welch, prominent politician and proprietor of a hotel in Visitacion valley, was convicted of permitting public gambling in his resort by a jury in Justice of the Peace H. W. Lampkin's court.

The Welch trial was the first case of any importance that has come up under the new administration and the justice court was crowded. The prosecution put Deputy Sheriff J. J. Shields, C. Gregory and A. Quilla on the witness stand, and all told of their raid upon the Welch resort January 15.

Attorney J. J. Bullock, representing Welch, contended that the defendant was merely the landlord of the premises upon which the games were conducted. To prove this, he placed E. M. Barnes on the witness stand. The latter testified that he leased the property from Welch and was the proprietor.

To refute the argument of the defense, District Attorney Swart produced an affidavit of registration made by Welch in which the latter swore that he was "proprietor and head of the house.".

Yesterday afternoon Judge Lampkin imposed a fine of $100 on Welch. The latter announced that he would appeal the case.

Four Million Postal Cards

At a meeting of the representatives of the passenger department of the Southern Pacific Company, from all over the state, held recently at San Jose it was decided to establish a California invitation day, and March 1st has been decided upon as that day. The railroad company will provide four million post cards containing a view of every county in the state, also an appropriate invitation with the expectation that every man, woman and child will send one of these cards to a friend or relative outside the state of California on that date suggesting that the recipient come to California now, while the grass is green, and the flowers are in bloom. To bring about results the railroad expects the co-operation of boards of trade, chambers of commerce, all commercial organiztions, the press, schools, officers, teachers and pupils, the fraternal and other organizations, the churches and all other bodies and individuals. March 1st has been decided upon in order to give the people a chance to avail themselves of the low colonist rates that will be in effect from March 10 to April 10.

DEATH CLAIMS THOMAS KOEN IN FAR-AWAY JAPAN.

Saturday Mr and Mrs. Chase Littlejohn received a cablegram from Japan informing them of the death, on that day in Yokohama, of Mrs. Littlejohn's brother Thomas Koen.

Koen had gone to Japan from Korea and presumably was on his way to San Francisco, as he had written his family in December that he would make them a visit soon. He said at that time that he had gone to Japan for treatment. What caused his death is unknown to his family.

Koen went to the Orient eleven years ago. He was thirty-three years old at the time of his death. He had received signal distinction at the hands of the Emperor of Korea, being the only American ever decorated by that potentate. He was an adviser to the Emperor and a member of the Imperial household for more than five years.

The activities of the young man were confined mostly to engineering works. He was connected with the Korea Exploration Company and is said to have amassed a considerable fortune by his discoveries. He directed the work of raising the Russian battleships after the war, and was constructor of several Government buildings in Manchuria.

The mother and several brothers and sisters of the deceased reside in San Francisco. A brother in this county is George Koen of San Bruno

PIONEER MERCHANT OF SAN MATEO SUCCUMBS.

Louis J. Henrioulle, a pioneer merchant of San Mateo and for 34 years a resident of the county, died Saturday night at the German hospital in San Francisco, following an operation. He had been ill for a long time. He was 68 years old.

Surviving him are a son, H. J. Henrioulle, and a nephew, Henry Hernioulle, and two brothers, John of San Francisco and Gregory of San Mateo. The funeral took place Tuesday morning from St. Matthew's church in San Mateo.

The decedent probably was one of the best known men in the county. Before engaging in business he was for many years a trusted employe of the DeGuigne family, having served the elder De Guigne first as valet and then as coachman for a decade.

Telegraph Service at Any Hour

An arrangement has been completed between the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Pacific States Telephone Company by which patrons of either company can have the advantage of long distance telegraph service at any hour of the day or night, regardless of whether their local telegraph office is closed or not, holidays and Sundays included. Certain offices in each district are designated as the ones to handle this joint business when the local offices are closed. San Francisco is the office with which phone connections can be had with the Western Union for this territory.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER

D. E. O'KEEFE, Editor and Proprietor

An extra heavy demand upon the part of our advertising patrons compells the omission of our usual installment of early day reminisences from this issue. The publication of these interesting little sketches will be resumed next week.

That we have some of the best factory sites on the Peninsula no one will deny. But, of what benefit to the town are these sites to be unless the people make some effort to secure the location of factories to use the sites.

If Redwood City is to reap its just share of the benefits of the Panama-Pacific Exposition she must be prepared to take advantage of the opportunities offered. And if we are to be prepared for these opportunities when theycome, it is none too early to begin work.

Of course you have a right to expect that the local merchant will do what he can to aid in building up the city. And, just the same, the local merchant has a right to expect you will give him your support, which means your patronage, while he is doing this work.

Donald MacKenzie has well earned the commendation of the Board of Supervisors for his work as superintendent of construction of the new courthouse. No more efficient or painstaking man could have been found for the place. A thoroughly versed mechanic, he brought to the work a high order of intelligence as well as conscientious and painstaking care.

TANFORAN THE IDEAL SITE.

From every possible point of view, either artistic or utilitarian, Tanforan seems to be the ideal site for the Panama-Pacific Exposition. The possibilities for its artistic exploitation are almost unlimited. Here can be found unlimited facilities for attractive features and appropriate display of the most attractive character. With comparatively little labor and expense the surroundings could be turned into a modern Venice, supplemented by a replica of the Panama Canal and aquatic sports of every conceivable character.

With equal facility might the mountains which surround this site be equipped with scenic railroads, and surmounted with gigantic electric lights, affording the most beautiful night illumination, not only to the entire fair site but of the magnificent scope of the waters of that portion of the San Francisco Bay where will ride the splendid fleets of the war vessels of the nations of the earth, andthe gathered merchant marine from every clime.

And, perhaps more important of all, the site is most easily accessible, not only from the city of San Francisco, but to the traveler from all parts of the country. From the utilitarian point of view, this is the most esential feature, as it is important that visitors may easily reach the exposition and secure an adequate knowledge of its location as they approach San Francisco.. Not only is Tanforan connected with San Francisco by both steam and electric railways upon which a practically constant communication can be kept up, but before the time for the operation of the exposition it will be upon the direct line of Eastern railway communication, as it will now be but a short time until the Dumbarton Bridge is opened to passenger traffic.

That the location of the exposition at Tanforan will be of immense advantage to San Mateo county no one can question. For this reason it behooves every citizen of this section to give every possible aid to the plans for the securing of the location of the exposition at this site.

FAVORS IMPEACHMENT PLAN.

Hon. Henry Ward Brown's constitutional amendment relating to the impeachment of judicial officers is being favorably commented upon by the press of the state. Following is the comment of the Sacramento Bee:

Assemblyman Brown's proposed constitutional amendment conferring upon the people the power of initiating the impeachment of judges of the supreme, appellate and superior courts appears to us to obviate and mistaken necessity of applying the recall to the judiciary. It makes the members of the bench strictly accountable to the electorate, but at the same time safeguards their position by careful restriction in the exercise of th eright by whch the public may seek to remove them

The measure recognizes the present impeachment privilege of the Assembly, but further provides that while the legislature is in session the voters of the state, district or county may institute similar proceedings by petition and force the lower house to submit the case to the Senate, which remains thetrial court just as it is now. For the impeachment of a justice of the supreme court the signatures of 25 percent of the voters of the entire state are necessary; for action against a justice of the appellate court the same percentage in the appellate district, and against a judge of the superior court a like proportion of the electors of the county in which he sits.

Only while the legislature is in session can this power of initiative be used. This provision in itself would tend to control any storm of popular prejudice or passion and the final right of the Senate to determine the merit of the impeachment should be an effective check against any similar effort to influence the administration of justice.

The judiciary cannot be subjected to the tacit threats of the recall without endangering our entire legal structure. It can, however, be made responsible directly to the people to a degree beyond that established by general election. Brown's amendment proposes this power of discipline but guards against its abuse.

Coastside Man Weds.

R. E. Steele, the well-known capitalist and politician of Torquay, was married at Selma on January 23 to Miss Paulson of that place. The bride is a refined and beautiful wom an who enjoys the friendship of a large circle of friends in the southern part of the state. Mr. Steele is well known in political circles o the county and state. He owns the Cascade ranch, one of the finest properties on the coast, a portion of which is laid out in town lots. It is valuable property and the lots are being sold rapidly. Mr. Steele makes frequent trips to this city where he has many admirers. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Steele wish them a happy wedded life and a prosperous career.

Domestic Science in the High School

On Tuesday of last week, Miss Edna Rich, president of the South Balboa Normal School gave a most interesting lecture before the high school students, teachers, three of the trustees, and a few of the mothers. While there was no opportunity to generally advertise this fine lecture, the fact that it was to be given, could have been, and probably was known in the family of every high school student, and while the mothers of Redwood are very busy, there should have been fifty present instead of ten. We say this because Miss Rich is splendidly equipped to deal with this important subject by training and by experience. For years she has been teaching domestic science in Santa Barbara, and her earnestness and ability created the sentiment which brought the state normal school of that city into being, and which will make it so great a power for good in the state From training the hands and minds of boys and girls she has advanced to the more important work of manual arts; and we have no doubt the schools of California will take and use with increasing profit. all the teachers Miss Rich can train in that new kind of state normal school. In our little self-centered community we are inclined to lose touch with the new developments of the fast-moving world of which we are so small a part. We no doubt would be a larger and more prosperous community if our minds were more receptive of new ideas, for they certainly move the world.

Miss Rich told of the wide extent to which this work has been developed in Santa Barbara, which is probably one of the reasons for the growth and prosperity of the community. People will sometime learn that it is hard for any community to use much above the common level unless it has superior school and church facilities. The speaker gave ample explanation of the value of such training and why it is so much needed today.

Next year San Mateo will inaugurate this work in her high school. Palo Alto has for several years been doing this work in the grades. Her high school building is not so large or convenient as ours is already accommodating 265 students, and there is no room for new work. When a high school is erected there, such work will be inaugurated. Her high school tax is already heavier than ours. The same is true of San Mateo. The important question is not whether we can afford it, but rather whether we can afford to longer leave it out, and then drop steadily behind in educational progress. The attendance of our high school based on enrollment is higher than either of our neighbors. It is kept so by the earnestness and faithfulness of the teachers. But can we hope to keep it so against better and more modern facilities freely supplied by the schools of our neighbors? It

Club House Plans Considered

Contrary to the usual custom, the time of the meeting of the Redwood City Woman's Club Thursday afternoon was devoted almost entirely to Club business, the chief feature of which was the discussion of plans for the new club house. New plans were submitted by the architect and these were given a thorough consideration, numerous good suggestions being offered. It was decided to hold a Floral Fete some time in the near future in aid of the building fund. While the date for this has not been definitely determined, it is probable that it will be held some time during the month of April.

Will Consider Special Tax.

The board of supervisors will meet Monday and take up the matter of providing for an exhibit and a building for the Panama-Pacific fair. It is proposed to erect a $50,000 building. The supervisors will discuss the best way to raise the money whether by a direct tax for the full amount or by installments. By collecting a portion of the money each year for four years the tax would not be burdensome on the tax payers and no one would feel the burden. San Mateo county should certainly have a fine exhibit and a splendid building and what ever the supervisors do in this matter they will have the peo- with them for all want to see San Mateo county in the forefront at the big exposition.

George W. Lovie of this city, C. J. Wade of Los Angeles and J. D. It is the desire of the building and Loan associations to have a commission of their own and be independent of the bank commissioner. Mr. Lovie made a strong argument against the bill and was given the closest attention and it is evident he made a good impression on the committee as the members partly agreed to report adversly on the measure. Mr. Lovie and his associates also made a strong plea against the new mechanics lein bill permitting material men to have their claims come in ahead of a mortgage.
